

One Shot, Second Beaten in School Election Brawl!

Fight Starts
Between Teacher
And Committeeman

CENTREVILLE, Ill. (U.P.) — This community was split today over a brawl in a school district polling place that left one man shot and a second beaten.

St. Clair County School Supt. Clarence D. Blair threatened to "oust" the entire Centreville School Board.

The brawl apparently started between teacher John Robinson, 31, one of six Centreville teachers to be discharged May 30, and Ernest Smith Sr., a Republican precinct committeeman.

Robinson told officials he was beaten by Smith and struck with a gun that split his scalp and required 14 stitches. In the scuffle, he said, Smith's gun fired and the bullet struck his son, Ernest Smith Jr., 26, who suffered a wound of the jaw.

Centreville Police Chief Charles Little arrested Robinson on a charge of violating election laws and the teacher was held in jail at Belleville overnight Saturday. Smith Jr. was treated at St. Mary's Hospital and released Sunday.

Robinson told officials he was acting as a watcher while votes were counted at the Garrison School. He said he was on his way to show his watch's certificate to one of the judges when Smith Sr. stopped him. The scuffle and shooting followed.

Smith Sr. is an investigator for St. Clair County State's Atty. John J. Hoban. It was understood that Hoban had taken statements on the affray.

The election was to choose three members of the seven-member School Board.

No reason was given for the discharge of the six teachers by the board, which resulted in withholding state aid to schools for March on grounds the teachers were fired without cause.

Superintendent Blair, who said he "might have to oust" the entire board, added that state aid would be withheld again this month.

Winners in the election were Riley Wyatt, Andrew Corley and Monroe Denbow.

Karl Andersen Dies in Colorado

Karl Q. Andersen of Estes Park, Colo., whose serious illness was reported recently, died Saturday night at a hospital in Greeley, Colo.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 at Greeley and burial will be there.

Mr. Andersen was acquainted with many people in the Harrisburg area due to frequent periods of residence here with Mrs. Andersen, the former Mary Gaskins of Harrisburg, daughter of the late John Thad Gaskins, Harrisburg businessman. Louise Gaskins of Harrisburg and Mrs. Louis Mitsardoff of Harrisburg and Estes Park, Colo., are her brother and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Louise Gaskins and his son, John T. Gaskins, left Sunday for Greeley. Two of his daughters, Mrs. John Utter and Mrs. Charles Wright of Harrisburg, left at noon today.

Mr. Andersen was a native of the Greeley area. He was a World War I veteran. He and Mrs. Andersen operated two places of business in Estes Park during the summer tourist seasons, then usually came to Harrisburg for a prolonged visit. They observed their 36th wedding anniversary while they were in Harrisburg earlier this year.

They went from Harrisburg to Hot Springs, Ark., where a previous illness recurred and he was taken by plane to Greeley.

Popcorn Day Events at Ridgway

GRAND PRIZE winner in the popcorn molding contest, left, was a miniature replica of St. Joseph's Catholic church of Ridgway. Jimmy Collins, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Collins, made the winning entry. 4 Local Persons Win Prizes At Popcorn Day Four Harrisburg persons won prizes for their efforts at National Popcorn Farmers Day held in Ridgway Saturday.

Mrs. C. C. Porter was first place winner in the Popcorn Village model competition, with an attractive pink, blue and white replica of the village. Lynn Franks daughter of Mrs. Betty Franks, won 50 pounds of rock phosphate fertilizer for her guess of the number of popcorn grains in a large container.

Mrs. Daisy M. Seright and Mrs. Marian Heideman were given special mention for their unusual articles made from popcorn.

Miss Ilene Collins of Ridgway was crowned queen of the affair. Miss Collins gained her title by producing the greatest volume of popped popcorn from a single can of Blevins Pops-Rite popcorn.

Grand prize winner in the competition for articles made from popcorn was Jimmy Collins of Ridgway, who created a beautiful replica of St. Joseph's church. His entry was sponsored by the St. Jo-

Major Economic Speech Planned By Eisenhower

President Back
At Desk to Face
Pressing Problem

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — President Eisenhower will make a major economic speech in New York City on May 20, the White House announced today.

The announcement came as the President, refreshed by a "goi-and-work" weekend in Augusta, Ga., returned to his desk to grapple with the pressing and political explosive economic problem.

Before heading back to Washington, he issued a special statement Sunday urging Congress to "act as swiftly as possible" on his plan for extending unemployment compensation benefits over a longer period of time.

The New York dinner, sponsored by the American Management Assn., will conclude a two-day "economic mobilization conference" inspired by remarks made by the President at a meeting of Republican women here on March 18.

At that time, the President said: "The real mainspring of our kind of economy is not government, but the built-in thrust and vigor of private enterprise."

Lawrence A. Appley, president of the management group, said in extending the invitation to the President that the conference will "demonstrate the existence and potential of this thrust and vigor so as to build confidence into management people of all levels and categories and to give the whole nation confidence in the immediate, as well as the long range, future."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon will preside over a May 20 afternoon session and will introduce the President at the dinner. Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks will speak at the afternoon meeting.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said radio and television networks are being advised of the President's speech in case they want to broadcast it.

Hagerty said the President has advised Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, chairman of the Governors Conference, that his schedule will not permit him to accept an invitation to address the governor's meeting in Miami, Fla., on May 18.

However, things were not so quiet in Eldorado.

In the Eldorado Elementary Schools district voting, five new members of the board were elected along with one incumbent. Because a new board was appointed last fall, six posts were to be filled in the election with only incumbent Gratton Hill remaining in office.

Elected were Bertis C. Herrmann 899, Gene Galeener 866, Max Harling 745, Howard Stearns 699 and Arch Baker 677, all new members, and incumbent Franklin Gray 587.

Defeated were three board members, Charles P. Carner 561, Roy Moore 517 and Amos Pulliam 518, and two others in the race, A. J. Caraway 447 and George Rilying 551.

Last fall the entire school board resigned except Mr. Hill and he made six appointments to the board to serve until Saturday's election. Mr. Haring, Mr. Galeener and Mr. Herrmann were elected to three-year terms, Mr. Stearns to the two-year term and Mr. Gray to the one-year term.

Two crows flew into connections on a 33,000 volt transmission line at the Muddy station this morning and knocked out power for six minutes in Harrisburg, Eldorado and Carrier Mills.

One of the birds was burned up, but the other electrocuted crow had to be taken down before power was restored. A big flash made it easy for workers to determine the source of the trouble.

William Hopkins, Harrisburg CIPS group superintendent, said there had been cases of snakes climbing poles to high voltage lines and causing the same kind of trouble. In rural areas especially, he added, birds and even squirrels had knocked out low-voltage power on individual transformers.

Denied By Moscow

Observatory Reports Sputnik II Disintegrated Over Caribbean

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (U.P.) — The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, despite a contradiction from Moscow, stood pat today on its announcement that the dog-carrying Russian satellite disintegrated Sunday night over the Caribbean.

Dr. John White, observatory information officer, said "we have nothing to add" to the observatory's statement that the satellite disintegrated in a fiery plunge about 9 p. m. last night.

"We have not changed our assumption that the satellite is down," White said.

A dispatch from Moscow today quoted a Moscow planetarium spokesman as saying that Sputnik II still has not disintegrated and should pass over Moscow sometime tonight on its dying orbit.

What was believed to be a fragment of the satellite, probably a rocket engine, was sighted as an "orange-red glow" over Denver, Colo., 17 minutes later.

Dr. John White, information officer for the observatory which has correlated world-wide satellite sightings, said the fragment was not likely to have survived another orbit.

A blazing fireball with "a long tail of fire like a comet" was seen by hundreds of residents of Barbados, British West Indies, at 8:53 p. m. e. s. t. The flaming trail was visible for about a minute. One witness said it looked like "rockets falling through the air."

In the sea south of the Virgin Islands, three minutes later, the crew of a Dutch tanker saw a "fireball with a trail of sparks and smoke" falling toward the sea. The captain of the tanker Mitra radioed: "Presumably it was Sputnik II."

The death of the "Mutt-nik" left only three U. S. satellites in orbit around the earth.

Need Vigorous, Bold Action, Ex-President Says

Recommendations
Made at House
Committee Hearing

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Harry S. Truman today urged Congress to fight the recession by giving middle and low income families a five-billion-dollar tax cut and by stepping up defense and public works spending.

The former President made the recommendations in testimony prepared for the House Banking committee.

He was the lead-off witness as the committee began five weeks of public hearings on ways of alleviating unemployment.

"Bold and vigorous action is necessary," Truman said. "... The Russians are looking over our shoulders with an economy—their economy, that is—which is growing at a rate of 7 to 10 per cent a year while ours is standing still."

End "Tax Loopholes"
Truman recommended: —A reduction of about five billion dollars in income taxes imposed on middle and low income families.

—Offsetting much of the revenue loss by eliminating "tax loopholes" and other "inequitable benefits to privileged groups." He said this would produce about three billion dollars in revenue.

—Making up the remaining two billion dollars by abandoning "high interest policies." He said these policies have harmed the economy and their abandonment would save about two billion dollars which the government is now paying in unnecessarily high interest on the national debt.

"These measures, in combination, would transfer five billion dollars of purchasing power to places where it belongs, both on considerations of equity and because that is where it would do the most good for the economy," Truman said.

Public Works Spending
The former President did not spell out in detail his recommendations for tax cuts. But he said Congress "should be careful not to pass out tax benefits to investors and well-to-do people who, if they are suffering at all, are suffering only because average American families do not have enough purchasing power."

Truman testified before a standing-room-only audience. The crowd was so large that the committee

Propaganda by H-Bomb

Editorial—BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
There are a number of things to be borne in mind as we think over the Russian announcement of a halt to nuclear weapons testing.

First, the Soviet Union itself has just concluded an extensive series of tests. If the Russians operate on anything like the time interval we do, then they probably will not be ready for further tests until next year at about this time.

They know full well that we have no intention of abandoning our next sequence of tests in the Pacific this summer.
Their test ban announcement is carefully worded, he noted, to allow them to "reconsider" their ban if others—meaning principally the United States—do not follow suit.

In other words, they may have no real intention of stopping tests at all, but are trying to capitalize on the propaganda value of this announcement. The day we explode our first nuclear device of the season they can say, sanctimoniously, that all bets are off thereafter, since we failed to join them in the ban.

Second, as United Press reporter Joseph L. Myler reports from Washington, it could be that the "halt" in tests is also an effort to bluff us into stopping experiments that might soon produce an effective atomic defense against long-range nuclear missiles.

This hope could not be very high in the Kremlin, but it may have been regarded as worth a try. Propaganda pressures can indeed be heavy.

Third, as the Russians begin their propaganda field day over this dramatic maneuver, we cannot forget that even if they are sincere—a rather remote prospect—they are not necessarily contributing materially to the future peace of the world.

Whatever a test ban may do for the future physical safety of mankind from nuclear fallout, it does not materially reduce the threat of war. Soviet and American arsenals still bulge with nuclear weapons, and their production goes on. Either nation, without ever again testing so much as an atomic bullet, could pour ruin upon the other.

A test ban can only be a peace move if it represents an earnest beginning toward real nuclear and general disarmament, and settlement of outstanding international differences. And we do not have much reason to hope that this one from Moscow is in earnest.

The Seats of the Mighty--

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: State Department seems stalemated in Near East; Oil companies dominate State Department policy;
Texas congressman finds some Vet organizations are loose with funds.

WASHINGTON. — In a recent closed-door session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Humphrey of Minnesota was quizzing Assistant Secretary of State William Rountree about the Middle East.

"How are you planning to re-sue American prestige in the Middle East?" Humphrey asked.
"What are your plans for combating Nasser's growing power?"

Reluctantly Rountree admitted that the State Department had no plans.

"What about the pipeline you were going to build across Turkey from Iran to the Mediterranean?"

"We aren't building it."

"Why not?"

"The oil companies say it's too expensive."

"What!" shot back Senator Humphrey. "You're letting the oil companies run the policy of the United States? I want you to know that the Senate of the United States does not want our policies dictated by a few oil companies on the basis of money."

"We have given all kinds of support to the oil companies. We have practically supported the country of Iran. There is no reason why we should have them tell us what to do."

"Our pussyfooting, procrastinating policies have let the whole Near East fall away from us," continued Humphrey. "and now
you tell me that the oil companies say we can't build a pipeline from Iran across Turkey to safeguard us in case of war."

Note—State Department policy in the Near East has almost always been dominated by the oil companies, not dictated to the oil companies. Herbert Hoover Jr., who was Undersecretary of State during the Suez crisis, was the former top executive of Union Oil of California, and various oilmen serve in the State Department to advise on Near Eastern affairs.

It was the oil companies which advised bringing King Saud to Washington. This worked all right until Saud was virtually ousted by his brother who hates the United States.

FOOLING THE PUBLIC

A report on how the American public has contributed millions of dollars, allegedly for handicapped veterans, is about to be issued by Congressman Olin Teague of Texas.

Teague will tell how the National Association of Veterans Employment Councils sold ball-point pens through the mails, ostensibly for money to help disabled veterans find jobs.

Teague's investigators found that the NAVEC, headed by Harold Keats, located jobs for only 180 veterans—though in 2 1/2 years it collected a cool $3,000,000.

Teague will have stern words
also for the Disabled American Veterans, which last year collected $4,000,000 from the American people by selling miniature automobile license tags for key chains.

After collecting the $4,000,000, on the grounds that it would be used for charity to disabled vets, the DAV used part of the money to produce the Hidden Treasure television show, on which $300,000 was lost.

Incidentally, the license-tag idea was sold to the DAV several years ago for $3,000,000 by Abraham Koolish, now under federal indictment in Chicago for mail fraud in connection with his various fundraising activities.

Congressman Teague has found so much abuse in fund raising for veterans that he has urged the House Government Operations committee to look into the entire field of tax-exempt charitable money raising. He will urge a new law making it a federal offense to sell or rent "sucker lists" of people who have contributed to one charity and are considered soft touches for other allegedly good causes.

CAPITAL NEW CAPSULES

Rebellious Rhee—The American
Embassy is trying to keep President Syngman Rhee from following through on his offer to put the entire Korean army, air force and navy at the disposal of the Indonesian rebels. Old Rhee believes Western countries which refuse to help the rebels are cowards who won't stand up against communism when it counts. But the American Embassy, on instructions from John Foster Dulles, is urging him to take it easy. South Korean intervention in Indonesia, Rhee has been told, would bring in Red China, also North Indo-China, which might touch off a world war.

Sour on Ike—Believe it or not,
but Congressman Noah Mason,
dean of Illinois Republicans in Congress, has cracked down on Congressman Tim Sheehan of Chicago,
also Republican, for being too pro-Eisenhower. Mason objected to the fact that Sheehan supported some of Ike's legislative proposals. Apparently, Mason believes a Republican congressman should not support a Republican president—if the president's name happens to be Eisenhower. Here are Mason's exact words to Sheehan: "I have lost all enthusiasm to give you any further help."

Elderly paratroopers—The Army rounded up several veterans from General Jim Gavin's old paratroop outfit to honor him as he retired the other day. The veterans, some of them over 40 years old, agreed to take a final jump for their wartime commander, landing dramatically in front of his reviewing stand. Some of them hadn't bailed out of a plane for 15 years, so when Gavin heard of it he refused to let the older veterans jump.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!
New York, N. Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.
Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.
This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold—without prescription—in tiny tablets called Primatene®.
Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucous congestion, relieves laryngeal tension. All this without taking painful injections.
The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress.
Each performs a special purpose.
So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from asthma spasms
... get Primatene, at any drugstore.
Only 98¢—money-back guarantee.

Lack of Love One Crime Cause

LOS ANGELES — Punishing children or their parents will never solve the juvenile delinquency problem in America, says New Orleans city Judge Anna Levy.

"I served for eight years on the bench of the Juvenile Court. I am currently in Civil Court," Mrs. Levy explained. "During that time I tried more than 30,000 cases involving children and their parents. And I came to one conclusion: No children are alike. No parents are alike. And punishing any of them is useless."

Judge Levy agrees there is more juvenile delinquency in this country today than ever before. She says it is easily explained: "There is more pressure on the population in general. Unfortunately it is not so easily solved."

She feels the simplest explanation is the same given new parents by pediatricians — tender, loving care.

"You can't measure love—you can't say one parent loves his child any more or less than his neighbor's affection for his youngsters. But I do know that children sense the amount of love their parents have for them. I know too that a child wants his own parents—no matter how cruelly he may have been treated—in preference to foster parents," said Judge Levy.

In Hollywood with her husband, Sanford Levy, who also is an attorney in New Orleans, Judge Levy cites numerous cases in her book,

"Other People's Children," as instances of parents' misdeeds to their youngsters, and the unfailing forgiveness on the part of the children.

"It is a frightening responsibility," she pointed out, "to have a child's life and future in your hands by the judgment you hand down. Only the rarest instances have I ever felt that a child should be taken from its natural parents. For the youngster invariably wants his own mother and father, not withstanding whether the feeling is mutual."

All He Gets is Prestige

Texan Pianist Wins First in Tchaikovsky Contest in Russia

MOSCOW (U.P.) — Van Cliburn, of Kilgore, Tex., received a gold medal and the Russian equivalent of $6,250 today as a prize ranking him among the world's leading exponents of Tchaikovsky's music.

The 23-year-old pianist won first place in the international Tchaikovsky piano contest that wound up here Sunday. Another American, Dan Pollack, of Los Angeles, finished in ninth place.

Other foreigners in the final round included Liu Shi-aun, a Chinese who tied with a Russian for second place; Bulgaria's Milina Mollava, France's Nadia Geddano and Japan's Toiaki Matsura, who placed sixth, seventh and eighth respectively.

But the two Americans got an especially rousing reception.

They were applauded tumultuously whenever they played, and afterwards were besieged with requests for autographs.

"I wouldn't take a million for this trip. The people have been so wonderful, and I'll never forget them. It was real Southern hospitality," Cliburn said.

Cliburn injured a finger during the contest, and he hasn't touched a piano since Friday, when he played the final concert that cinched the prize.

Pollack made his final appearance Sunday. He played Tchaikovsky's 1st Concerto — which was required of all the finalists — and Rachmaninoff's 2nd Concerto with a Russian orchestra.

"I'm simply glad it's all over," the Californian said as he left the stage after the 1½-hour concert. "All I want to do now is sleep."

Cliburn was unconcerned by the fact that all he really won is prestige. The Russians paid off the money prize in rubles — 25,000 of them — which cannot be taken out of the country.

"Money doesn't mean anything to me," he said. "There are so many things you can't buy with it."

The Ridgway Woman's club won first place in the contest for decorative centerpiece made from popcorn. Miss Beth Coleman, Shaw neetown, placed second. The Ladies' Aid of Cottonwood was second in the Popcorn Village division.

Several thousand persons visited Blevins Popcorn Company's Popcorn Village during the festivities. Letters of congratulation to the company and the people of Ridgway were sent from the White House, Vice President Nixon, Sen.ators Douglas and Dirksen and other important personages.

Plans are being made to make the event an annual affair. Ridgway and area took on a carnival atmosphere for the event and civic leaders are already talking of bigger and better "1959 Popcorn Day."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Blevins and son, Bill, headed a large delegation from Pops-Rite headquarters in Nashville, Tenn. Blevins is president of the company. A chartered bus brought 40 employees and their families for the all-day festivities in Ridgway.

Eight Killed in Military Plane Crashes

One Involves Air Force's Newest, Biggest Transport

By United Press

A series of week-end military plane crashes, one of them involving the Air Force's newest and biggest transport, has claimed at least eight lives.

Four men were killed when a C-133 cargo plane crashed in flames in the Ellendale State Forest near Georgetown, Del. The new four-engine plane, costing an estimated $3,400,000, plunged to earth about 10 minutes after taking off from Dover Air Force Base.

Firemen battled the flames two hours before bringing them under control. Wreckage was strewn over a quarter of a mile.

The victims were identified as Raymond R. Bern, 37, Long Beach, Calif., the pilot; Lt. Herbert T. Palisch, 25, St. Louis, Mo., co-pilot; T.Sgt. Marvin A. Aust, 29, Hays, Kan., engineer; and T.Sgt. Edward L. McKinley Jr., 33, Meridian, Miss.

Near Tacoma, Wash., three men were killed when their C-47 Air Force plane crashed during a practice landing at McChord Air Force Base. Observers said the craft cartwheeled and crashed during a landing approach and burst into flames.

Reserve Capt. Wayne F. Reed, 38, Tacoma, pilot; Reserve Capt. Cyril E. Walmsley, 36, Shelton, Wash., and T.Sgt. Roy E. Craft, 28, Tacoma, were killed.

An F-100 jet plane crashed and exploded in an alfalfa field near Blanchard, Okla., killing the pilot, Lt. Richard L. Glassberg, 24, New Rochelle, N. Y.

An Air National Guard F-86 jet fighter plummeted into Boston Harbor Sunday, but the pilot parachuted into the water and was rescued by a pleasure boat.

Truman Urges Tax Cut, Public Works

had to move to a larger hearing room.

Looking fit and as jovial as ever, he read his prepared statement at a fast clip. He provoked a laugh when he said that a recession is when your neighbor loses his job, while a depression is when you lose your job.

He praised Congress for its moves to step up public works spending to combat the recession.

In an obvious reference to administration complaints over Congress' speed in acting on stepped-up public works spending, Truman said the congressional program is "all the more notable and praiseworthy" because of the "conspicuous lack of encouragement" received from some quarters.

Five Year Program

Truman called for still further congressional action in speeding up and increasing public spending. He proposed the following program for the next five years:

—An increase in defense spending of about three billion dollars above the level President Eisenhower originally proposed for the fiscal year starting July 1. Truman said Congress should plan now to increase annual defense spending to another five billion dollars or more by the fiscal year starting July 1, 1963.

—An increase in foreign economic aid to raise spending to $1,500,000,000 in the year starting July 1 instead of the $72 million dollars recommended by Eisenhower. Truman said Congress should plan to increase this to $2,500,000,000 by 1964. He said "This is essential if we are to keep ahead of the Russians in the area of foreign economic development."

—An increase of $1,700,000,000 in spending on domestic programs in the fiscal year starting July 1. Truman said "the bulk of this expansion would be for education, public health and public assistance." This would continue to be increased so that by fiscal 1964 outlays would total about 12 billion dollars for education, health and public assistance, and almost five billion for development of natural resources and housing.

In addition, Truman recommended federal aid to extend unemployment compensation for jobless workers who have exhausted their state payments.

He also urged Congress to in-

The newspaper said the tests "disclosed the Soviet Union has not succeeded in producing a 'clean' atomic or hydrogen bomb."

It said a "dangerous increase in radioactive fallout over the Soviet Union was most likely the real reason Premier Nikita Khrushchev decided to suspend arms tests."

The Berlingske Tidende said this information was supported by reports from Oslo and Stockholm that radioactivity in certain areas of those two countries had increased 25 per cent.

Tidende mentioned the recent ban on foreigners' travel in southern Russia and said apparently the Soviet government wanted to prevent foreigners from reporting on the uneasiness and fear among Soviet citizens by the accidents."

Asks Court Order to Prevent Eviction From Right-of-Way

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. (U.P.) — Arguments are scheduled in Perry County Circuit Court here Tuesday on a request for a temporary injunction which would affect a $350,000 street reconstruction program in Du Quoin.

Lloyd Rees, proprietor of a neighborhood market in Du Quoin, has asked a court order enjoining the city from evicting him from the right-of-way along the street. He has asked $40,000 damages if he is forced to remove a portion of his store which extends over the property line.

The city says some service station pumps owned by an oil company also are located on the needed right-of-way.

Report Serious Accident In Soviet A-Tests

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (U.P.) — The conservative newspaper "Berlingske Tidende" reported today a recent Soviet nuclear arms test ended in a "disastrous accident." It quoted Moscow reports received through diplomatic channels.

The newspaper said the tests "disclosed the Soviet Union has not succeeded in producing a 'clean' atomic or hydrogen bomb."

It said a "dangerous increase in radioactive fallout over the Soviet Union was most likely the real reason Premier Nikita Khrushchev decided to suspend arms tests."

The Berlingske Tidende said this information was supported by reports from Oslo and Stockholm that radioactivity in certain areas of those two countries had increased 25 per cent.

Boy, 7, Crushed to Death While Playing Between Stacks Lumber

URBANA (U.P.) — Ronald E. Lowery, 7, Urbana, was crushed to death Saturday while playing between two stacks of plywood in the Creative Builders Construction Co. lumber yard.

Company officials said they had chased the boy from a warehouse roof earlier in the day.

Champaign County Coroner Don Wilkoff said the boy had been walking across one of the stacks when it collapsed and pinned him against the other. Ronald's playmates called Mrs. Janice Stansbury, who lives near the lumber yard, but the boy was pronounced dead on arrival at an Urbana hospital.

FORMER RESIDENT TELLS ABOUT P AND G EXPANSION

The following item appeared in a recent edition of a Cincinnati newspaper and will be of interest to local citizens as Mr. Siddall is a former Equality resident, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Siddall.

An expanding research program, thirst for competition, closeness to consumer needs and a strong management development program are Proctor and Gamble's answers to the future, Kelly Y. Siddall, administrative vice president, said here today.

"Siddall told the Cleveland Society of Security Analysts these answers 'suggest no radical or dramatic changes.' He said the big Cincinnati producer of soap and detergents, shortening and other food products, shampoos, dentifrices and home permanents has grown and progressed in this way for 120 years.

"Research efforts of P and G, whose sales total nearly 1½ billion dollars and net income 70 million will continue to expand to perfect new and improved products for consumers," Siddall said.

"The value of a strong research program has been proved, he said, for more than 60% of P. and G's consumer sales volume last year was produced by products not on the market 12 years ago. He said he expected that 10 years from now P and G will be pressing just as hard for business as it is today."

IPAC Reports Caseloads At New High

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.) — The Illinois Public Aid Commission reported today relief rolls and spending showed a new rise in February.

The commission said a total of $14,815,780 in aid was paid in February to 330,322 persons on the rolls of the five assistance programs.

These figures compared with $17,802 persons and $14,519,616 in January and 292,849 persons and $13,684,211 for February of last year.

The caseload in the general assistance program, which is used to an extent to aid families affected by unemployment, showed the largest increase.

The general assistance rolls included 122,334 persons at a cost of $3,791,158, compared with 109,983 persons and $3,573,784 in January. This meant an increase from January to February of more than 12,000 persons on the general assistance rolls.

The general assistance figures for February of last year were only $8,192 recipients and $3,078,439.

The old age and blind assistance program caseloads declined slightly during February and there were only small increases in the number of persons receiving aid under the disability and aid to dependent children programs.

The February figures for the four programs other than general assistance were:

Old age $3,277 recipients and $3,694,285; blind assistance 3,261 recipients and $238,556; disability assistance 13,191 recipients and $1,089,392; aid to dependent children 110,630 recipients and $4,002,389.

Haitian Official Kills Embassy Counsellor

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The first secretary of the Haitian embassy today shot and killed the embassy's minister and counsellor. The secretary apparently blamed the minister for orders issued recently for him to return to Haiti.

The victim was Samuel De Vieux, No. 2 man at the embassy. He was dead on arrival at the Washington Hospital Center. There were gunshot wounds in his neck and chest.

Police held Andre Toussaint, the first secretary, for questioning and filed an immediate report to the State Department.

Police expected possible difficulty in investigating the case because the embassy is "foreign territory" and they could be ordered out at any time.

Motive for the slaying was not officially announced. But embassy aides said there had been some "ill feeling" between the two men; that Toussaint had been recalled by his government and was inclined to blame De Vieux for an unfavorable report he had filed about him.

According to a neighbor, the shooting occurred about 10 a. m. He told police he heard three shots which apparently came from the embassy building. He said he ran to the embassy entrance and saw a girl run down the steps screaming something in French. She disappeared around the corner just as a police squad car arrived.

De Vieux was said by his associates to be about 50 years old. Toussaint is about 38.

The shooting occurred in De Vieux's office, according to an embassy aide. De Vieux had been stationed here only since November. Toussaint had been here 2 1/2 years doing general diplomatic work, the embassy said.

De Vieux was married but his family was not here, this source said. Toussaint was married last Saturday to an American girl.

nett, Larry Wise and Yates came in third for three points and the freshman relay team of John Utter, Artie Holland, Carl Shelton and Roger Fox was fourth for two points. Ike Set to Open Baseball Season

WASHINGTON — The President of the United States goes out to the ball game today to inaugurate the 1958 big league season and try to snap out of a personal pitching slump.

Dwight D. Eisenhower, a right hander, was set to do the honors by throwing out the ceremonial first ball a few minutes before the Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox started playing for keeps.

Today was the sixth straight honorary pitching appearance for the Chief Executive, a better-than-average outfielder in his West Point days but just a so-so pitcher as President.

Washington has won only two openers under the Eisenhower pitching administration. The President was in fact in the midst of a losing streak—he "lost" the last two season openers.

The President, fresh from a golfing weekend in Georgia, and many members of Congress just back from a 10-day Easter holiday headed the official government delegation to the ball park.

Hawks Win Pro Championship

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Hawks hailed Bob Pettit as their hero in capturing the National Basketball Association championship while the beaten Boston Celtics wondered today how they would have fared with Bill Russell in the lineup.

Pettit racked up 50 points Saturday night as the Hawks nipped the Celtics, 110-109, here to clinch the best-of-seven series, four games to two. While Hawk fans began a wild victory celebration, Pettit sank on the bench exhausted and buried his face in a towel.

The Celtics weren't using the absence of Russell as an excuse for losing, but it was plain that they thought things would have been different if the league's best rebounder hadn't suffered a chipped ankle in the semifinal round and been unavailable for the Hawks' series.

The Celts, behind at the quarter, 20-18, 57-52 and 83-77, rallied in the last minutes. When the clock showed only 16 seconds remaining and the score favoring the Hawks, 110-107, the Celts' Bill Sharman brought the ball down court for a layup.

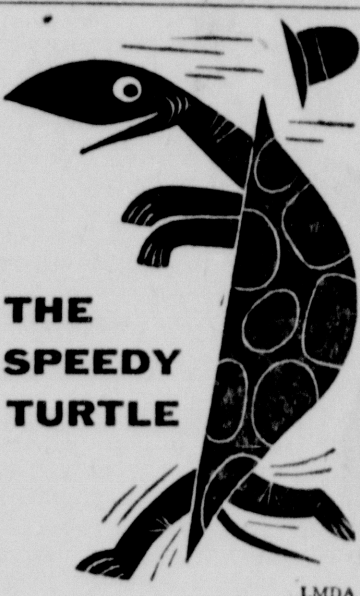

But the Hawks didn't even try to defend, fearing a foul, a tied score and an overtime ball game.

The continent of Antarctica is as large as the United States and Europe combined, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a speedy turtle who had a reputation for being slow with the clams. He was definitely a hard-shelled tightwad.

100 Report for Irish Practice

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Coach Terry Brennan greeted 100 aspirants for berths on Notre Dame's football team when spring practice opened today.

The turnout, which included 25

lettermen, was the largest in recent years, and included most of those who had a hand in the last year's surprise victories over Army and Oklahoma.

The spring squad was headed by co-captains Al Ecuyer, All-America guard, and Charles Puntillo, senior tackle. The wholesale turnout reflected the Irish bounce-back of seven wins in 10 starts last year compared to their poor season of only two out of 10 the year before.

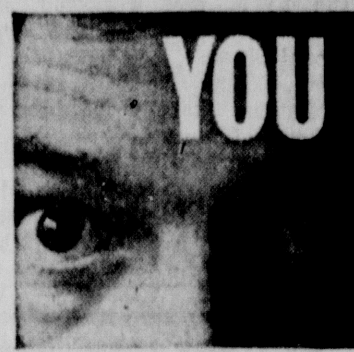

Brennan, however, still had his problems. He was reported to be concerned over lack of speed in the backfield despite the return of sharp quarterback Bob Williams and big fullback Nick Pietrosante.

Notre Dame boosters, discounting Brennan's worries, figured the Irish had their best prospects in four or five years.

Use of Illinois Coal to Produce Coke Increasing

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — An Illinois State Geological Survey researcher said Friday the use of Illinois-produced coal to make metallurgical coke is gradually increasing in Illinois and Indiana steel mills.

Researcher Hubert Risser spoke at a meeting here of the St. Louis section of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers.

He said Illinois coals can be satisfactorily substituted for high-volatile eastern coking coals to produce metallurgical coke. "Where Illinois coals are used it is generally because of cost advantage sufficient to offset the advantages of other available coals," he said.

Risser said Illinois-produced coal contains more sulphur than eastern coking coal but also tends to lose more sulphur during carbonization. He said Illinois coal also has a higher moisture content than high-volatile eastern coal.

Risser said that in 1951 only 2.6 percent of the coal used in Illinois-Indiana steel production was produced in Illinois, but that in 1957 the percentage had climbed to more than 4 per cent.

XX
"I didn't even say I was here as a police officer. You pulled a badge first. Matter of fact I'm off duty. Let's say I'm here, at the moment, as a citizen who is a friend of Miss Henderson."

Tasman suddenly spoke up, grunted, "She's a Spick, her real name is Honduras."

"Lardy, I don't like my friends called Spicks. And for a girl you claim you never saw before you certainly know a lot about her." I stood up. "This isn't an official visit, although Miss Henderson has made a complaint with the precinct. If you annoy her once more I'll return and run you both in for disorderly conduct or jostling—let a judge determine the law."

"The law states—" Flatts began.

"You've already hit a cop." "In self-defense," Flatts chimed in fast. "And I have a witness."

"Even in self-defense it might not be healthy for you and your witness around the precinct house. Stick to your phone taps. Lay off Miss Henderson or I'll scramble your features." I started for the door.

"Are you threatening me, Wintino?" Flatts called out.

"Yeah, I'm telling you both to stop it or I'll work you over."

Flatts cupped one ear. "What did you say?"

"That I'll beat the slop out of you if you keep annoying Miss Henderson. Did you hear that or do you want a free sample?"

I turned toward him and he flicked his hand at the desk, must have turned on a switch, that cold smile engraved on his wiseguy face. The office was suddenly filled with a playback of our conversation. I was astonished at how shrill my voice sounded. I said loudly, above the recording "It still goes. You'll be listening to that in a hospital!"

Flatts cut the playback, said, "I trust you have strong arches, Wintino."

Tasman got to his feet as I passed him. I put my open hand against his big face and pushed, sending him back into his chair. I told him, "Don't bother to get up," and walked out.

I walked along Centre Market place, the narrow block behind Headquarters, window-shopped the gunsmith and police tailor stores in the ground floor of the tenements. Then just to say I'd been there, I went across the street to have coffee and a sandwich in Flanagan's, where the brass eats. There was a beefy-acting lieutenant who'd given us lectures on narcotics at Detective Training School sitting by himself. He motioned for me to come over. I was surprised he remembered my name. I couldn't think of his.

We chewed the fat for a while. I asked if he'd ever heard of Data, Inc. and he hadn't. I told him a little about the run-in I had with them, but didn't mention hitting them.

He said, "Got to be careful with these birds, Dave. In their line they need pull, and not only around City Hall, but up in Albany and in Washington. You see, there isn't much work in the private snoop racket, so the ones that are able to get something going have to be able to supply all kinds of inside information or close shop. That means they must have connections. But you don't have to worry, the last thing these guys want is publicity. Be different if you belted the guy, but from what you tell me he's bluffing you. What you got there, a boil on your cheek?"

I took the subway uptown and rang Rose's bell. After giving me the eye through the door peeper she let me. She was wearing a kind of purple cotton slack outfit that could have passed for pajamas. As always she gave me the feeling of a firecracker waiting for a match. We both sat on the couch and she asked me if I'd seen what had happened and I told her about following the guy to Data, Inc., and that I thought she wouldn't be bothered any more. The couch was comfortable and I thought it was nice of Rose to dress for me. And suddenly I felt very tired; all that silly roadwork, then rushing around Brooklyn, then running downtown. My head was tired from worrying so much, about Wales and about Mary and now about my job. I wanted to stop thinking for a while.

Rose fingered the cut on my cheek, her hands light and soothing as she washed it with some stuff. I told her not to bother and I was so comfortable I near dozed off. She told me, "I can't tell you how much I appreciate this. I don't know why I called you at home. But I was so angry and when they said you weren't at the police station, why I—" "This is my day off," I said, closing my eyes.

"Oh, I'm sorry. I never would

The conference, to be held in the Jung hotel, May 11-17, is an annual event open to the leading district agents in Prudential Mid-America territory covering Illinois and Indiana. Qualification is based on excellence in the sale and service of life insurance during the previous year.

Besides Freund, others attending will be Agents Waldo Killman, Philip Trapani, Charles Reeves, Thomas Abbott, Bill Watson, and Stanley Price.

Protect their precious future now

Like most young fathers, as soon as your children were born, you probably began to think more seriously about your family's future. You began to plan how you could make sure that they would have a secure home and an education, even if something should happen to you.

The time when children are young, however, is usually the time when the family income is far from ample... and the cost of the usual permanent insurance may look quite large. That is why Metropolitan has developed a special life insurance policy called the RPG-5.

This means that reduced premiums are guaranteed for the first five years. When the five years are up the premiums will increase to the level where they will remain for the life of the policy... but this increase may be offset by future dividends.

So here is an opportunity to get the full, permanent form of protection that your family needs... at a lower initial premium rate which may better fit your budget.

This is a perfect policy for the family man whose income hasn't quite caught up with his talents. It has all the cash and loan values that make permanent insurance such a wise investment.

Call your Metropolitan Representative today and ask him about the RPG-5. He will welcome the chance to explain this valuable policy... and to show that
